The Kaleidoscope

Foreword

E., the Kaleidoscope Board of 1915, do give over all our rights and interests in this book to the Class of 1915 and the Public in general.

Let us say in our own defense that we don’t like to hit the Class when it is down and bleeding, nor do we like to hoodwink the unsuspecting Public, but it is necessary, that we may cover our crime.

Pardonnez les fautes que vous y trouverez; elles sont des fautes de négligence plutôt que d’ignorance. Notre dernier vanterie.

The Senior

The Beginning of the End

We are finishing our college course; not finished, perhaps, as they apply the term to floors or table tops. If you had only seen us when we entered these halls of learning, you would say that there had been at least, a change. Well do I remember a remark I heard some time during November of our Freshman year to the effect that we were the worst class of fellows and the best class of girls that ever entered Middlebury College. Quite a mark to live up to, wasn’t it? Look at us now, have we lived up to it? The fairer part of our class has, of course. What means they have used to do it no one knows, but it is enough to say that 1914 is proud of them.

A few words, then, for the men. With this name we entered and have risen steadily upward thru the smoke and flame of battle, thru the evolution of the College and the experiments of the professors, until now, we rest on the last step, reaching one hand upwards towards that pinnacle of fame which has been for four years the goal of our lives. We had a hard time doing it; for we had to keep up with the brains of the women and besides throw off that wicked reputation of ours, but we did, and today we can look at ourselves and say, “See the future ministers and missionaries.” Verily, 'tis like the changing of the caterpillar to the butterfly.

With those few words we leave you, but we will return again.

The Junior
HE fall of nineteen-eleven, with all due respect to that Fall, witnessed the entrance of probably the finest class that ever had hopes of graduating from this institution. From that time, when paddles were applied to over sixty freshmen, when you could have fifty unexcused absences, when you could go driving on Sunday, we have now, thru years of labor, reached our present and enviable status.

Need we tell again of our winning of the hat scrap, of championships in basketball, of a Freshman banquet, or in fact of any of the numberless achievements and virtues of the class of 1915? Of course not, and neither should we worry, for who but a sophomore would contest the merits and the legality of our quota of fame and honor?

Life they say is one cussed thing after another, but sometimes that which comes after is the most to be desired. We do not envy the class above us, but we do look forward with anticipation to that time when we too will be the first to leave the chapel in the morning, and the last to retire on that evening of memorable occasions, the Senior Ball. Herein are briefly enunciated the deeds and hopes of a Junior class.
David Holbrook Brown, A2Φ
Collinsville, Conn

"Dave" is one of those comebacks. He came back with a squeak instead of a punch. We think it's because he's in love.

"A wee little one, a bonny little one."

Irving Lyman Cabot, A2Φ
Windsor

"Cab." This skirterino kid hails from Windsor. It is reported that since his Freshman year he has been afflicted with "efeminitis" and will soon succeed Cluff in the Chair of Womanology.

"When you do dance, I wish you
A wave o' the sea, that you might ever do
Nothing but that."

Elbert Charles Cole, A2Φ
Orleans

The wing-footed whiskey tenor. He makes himself generally obnoxious to all the musical organizations.

"Use three physicians still: first Dr. Quiet;
Next Dr. Merryman, and Dr. D joit."

George Clyfton Dade, KΔΦ
Amesbury, Mass.

"Dadey" might substitute for a Pathé's Weekly. He sees all and thinks he knows more.

"Map me no maps, sir; my head is a map, a map of the whole world."
Clifford Theron Day, ΑΣΦ
Morrisville, N. Y.

“Clif.” The pink-cheeked representative of the Mellen’s food concern. It shows in his circumference. He’ll take the shirt off your back to get it into this week’s laundry.

“Tis impious in a fat man to be sad.”

George Henry Gardner
North Marshfield, Mass.

After whom the famous “Larry” was named. He follows the walks as though he was following a plow.

“A very gentle beast and of a good conscience.”

Wayne Martin Haller, ΔY
Shelburne Falls, Mass.

This fellow has the brains of a gnat enlarged to human size. Leave out the "a," replace it by "e" and you have his character.

“I, thus neglecting worldly ends, all dedicated
To closeness and the bettering of my mind.”

Harold Webb Haskins, ΔΣ
Bradford

Our family druggist and our former president. He’s a good fellow and we take this opportunity to say it.

“He is of a very melancholy disposition.”
Guy Clinton Hendry, KΔP, North Hampton, N. H.
The "tuty-fruity" musician. He plays any kind of an instrument. He reminds us of a goat, as he is right there with the buck.

"Perhaps it may turn out a song,
Perhaps turn out a sermon."

John Mott Hoyt, ΔΣ Cornwall
"Paul Revere." His dash is an every day occurrence. His curls lend splendor to our Halls.

"A lion among ladies is a most dreadful thing."

Frank Silver King Hunt, ΔΣ West Lebanon, N. H.
"Finkelstein." Silver King, or the hunt for the almighty dollar.

"I have gained my experience."

Merrill Lee Jenkins North Troy
This fellow's stature reminds us of Professor Cresse's fourth dimension.

"I'll warrant him heart-whole."
Charles Sherman Jones, X*¥  Castleton

"Casey." He has many qualities. We have never fathomed them. He is Miss Throop's lamb and Charlie Baker's black sheep.

"I see the right, and I approve it too,
Condemn the wrong, and yet the wrong pursue."

Albert Laburton Kimball, AKE  Bradford, Mass.

"Kim's" favorite sport is fishing. The question is, "Will she bite?"

"Have heard her sigh and soften out the name."

Carlisle George Kron, AKE  Berlin, Conn.

"Ky" Kron, our habitual cripple. He jumped so high last spring that he never recovered.

"Can one desire too much of a good thing?"

Robert Loder, AY  East Orange, N. J.

"Bob," the man who has retired to the bush league.

"Whiskers fair his face adorn."
Grover Cleveland McCullough
Chatham, N. J.

"Mac." A combination of our former President (U. S.) and the man who presented the gym, all placed under "1" gives this fellow's speed.

"What's in a name? That which we call a rose
By any other name would smell as sweet."

Clarence Wilson McIntire, ΔΣ
Woodsville, N. H.

Escaped No. 999. Famous for his performances on the "oboe" (a wind instrument).

"Music is well said to be the speech of angels."

George Wilson MacLaughlin, ΑΣΦ
Ticonderoga, N. Y.

Bill writes with his left hand, throws a baseball with his right and throws the "beef" with both.

"One may say that his wit shines at the expense of his memory."

Leonard Coleman Monahan, ΑΣΦ
South Framingham, Mass.

The gifted linguist. He can barter with words to any extent.

"When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think I should live till I were married."
Thomas Kenneth Penniman
Meriden, N. H.
This fossil should be dusted off and put on the shelf with the rest of the books.

"In books a prodigal they say;
A living cyclopedia."

Frederick Reynolds Pihlman
Chatham, N. J.
Pihlman has been sick and so does not come in for his share of the knocks.

"The miserable have no other medicine,
But only hope."

Charles Spurgeon Randall
Amesbury, Mass.
Chief of the fire department. We can't think of anything else that he might be, so we class him thus.

"I'll give you leave to call me anything, if you don't call me 'spade.'"

Aldo Alfred Ratti, KAP
Proctor
The alabaster lad from Proctor. He takes everything for granted. He never talks, but orates.

"Out of the cellar onto a pedestal."
Ralph Walter Ray, XΨ

“Mouser.” His quietness is his one redeeming quality.

“O, what may man within him hide,
Though angel on the outward side.”

Hackettstown, N. J.

Thomas Milne Ross, ΔΣ

Northfield

He preaches and after an hour stops for lack of breath, as the idea was never there.

“Sweet are the slumbers of a virtuous man.”

Michael Francis Shea, ΔY

New London, Conn.

“Mikey,” the silver-tongued orator. The only noise his tongue makes is a jingle.

“What shall I do to be forever known,
And make the age to come mine own?”

William Mollis Sistare, ΔY

Waterford, Conn.

As much at home on the basketball floor as Stew-Esten in his dress suit.

“And hears thy stormy music in the drum!”
Harold Joseph Swezey, X¥
Patchogue, N. Y.

"Swez," the missing link. He bears a strong resemblance to a figure "S."
"This is the long and short of it."

Roy Thaddeus Whitney
Shrewsbury

The biggest bone "Tenor" ever made was to whitewash his shadow on Prexer's door so nobody would know he was standing outside.
"They strike mine eyes, but not mine heart."

George Hamilton Chapman, X¥

This man has a record and the faculty is after him yet. For further information inquire Pinkertons.

"'Convey,' the wise it call.
'Steal!' toh! a fico for the phrase!"
May Ruth Bartley
Achmelot, N. H.
“I want to be an alchemist,
Test gold and zinc and tin,
As long as I am "Brother,"
They ought to let me in.”
H. I. M.—To live up to the motto “Haste makes Waste.”

Mary Hayward Buck
Waterville, Conn.
“A woman is the most inconsistent compound of obstinacy and self-sacrifice that I’m acquainted with.”
H. I. M.—To make other people stop guying.

Mary Louise Ellis
Pittsfield
Chance is a word void of sense; nothing can exist without a cause.
H. I. M.—To penetrate the deepest mysteries.

Emma Louise Feeney, II188
Ballston Spa.
Behold the student—the human book-eater! This embryo of knowledge thrives best in the library, Baptist Church or Pearson’s Social Hall, not to mention Chipman Hill.
H. I. M.—To get all her required duties done before 7:30 p. m. so that she may—devote her evenings to Social Service.
Isabelle Clara Field, P.R.

I ought to wash, I ought to wash,
I really know I ought "ter;"
Oh how I wish I were a fish,
And lived right in the water!

H. I. M.—"To sleep, yea sleep forever!"

Sarah Katherine Fish, AX

"It has been the providence of nature to give this creature nine lives instead of one."

H. I. M.—To be ready when she hears that whistle.

Sarah Louise Funnell, AX

"Aw, what's the good of studying
Upon this gorgeous day!
The tennis courts aren't muddy;
Be sports, girls, let's play!"

H. I. M.—To own a box at Hammerstein's.

Fannie Olive Gill

Sing a song of tangents, shakos full of math,
Right and perfect answers Fannie always hath.

Algebra and Analyt. Trig and Solid too,
Any math and every math Fannie sails right through.

H. I. M.—To prove that there is a fifth dimension à la Calculus or perhaps Physics.
Mae Eleanor Guerin, ΣΚ

Muse not that I thus suddenly proceed;
For what I will, I will, and there's an end.

H. I. M.—To show her aesthetic nature by wearing a harmonious combination of pinks and reds.

Ginevra Pollard Harlow, ΠΠΦ
Chester

"I do but sing because I must
And pipe but as the linnets sing."

H. I. M.—To become a great artist in some field, either poetry, painting, or perhaps cooking. In the latter, of course, she could fry fish and make cupcakes.

Clotilda Hayes, ΛΧ
Lee, Mass.

"Or light or dark, or short or tall,
She sets a spring to snare them all;
All's one to her—above her fan
She'd make sweet eyes at Caliban."

H. I. M.—To lay up credits for a degree of M. R. S.

Ruth Hilton, ΛΧ
Richmond

"Tis said that absence conquers love;
But oh! believe it not;
I've tried, alas! its power to prove,
But thou art not forgot."

H. I. M.—To get through college with the smallest possible amount of mental energy.
Annie Josephine Hulihan

Center Rutland

"The glass of fashion, and the mold of form,
The observed of all observers."

H. I. M.—To illustrate the art of being coy by the correspondence plan.

Irene Idelle Ingalls

Windham

"I'm what I seem: not any dyer gave
But nature dyed this color that I have."

H. I. M.—To run a cheese factory.

Ruth Kendall, ИВФ

Pittsford

Beneficent instructors—have mercy on this wee thing you see before you!
She is as frail as a tiny floweret and the least wind may blow her away,
Speak not so loudly, girls! She is a nervous wreck—a sad case of overstudy!

H. I. M.—To make people realize that everything comes to him who waits.

Florence Kopke, ИВФ

Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Heaven sends us good meat, but the devil sends us cooks."

H. I. M.—Pour y parvenir.
Mildred Dickerson Lusk, AX

"I'm sure care is an enemy to life."
H. I. M.—To have a man in every port,
To wear a seal,
To be a regular old sport,
And get through college on a squeal.

Newark, N. J.

Alice King MacGilton

"She points the arduous height where glory lies,
And teaches sad ambition to be wise."
H. I. M.—To live up to an artistic temperament.

Middlebury

Irene Ethel McGregor

"Causa latet; vis est notissima."
H. I. M.—To think in Latin.

Waterbury, Conn.

Laura Louise Mead

"He is a fool who thinks by force or skill
To turn the current of a woman's will."
H. I. M.—To devote her life to agriculture.

North Ferrisburg
Mabel Alice Miller
Wells River

"Happy am I, from care I'm free!
Why aren't they all contented like me?"
H. I. M.—To laugh and grow fat.

Margaret Park Mills, SK
St. Johnsbury

"O grant me, heav'n, a middle state.
Neither too humble nor too great;
More than enough for nature's ends,
With something left to treat my friends."
H. I. M.—To be a joint partner in the cheese factory.

Sophie Donker Musgrove
Pittsfield, Mass.

"And still she kept on giggling, gig-gig, gig-gig, gig-gig-giggling!"
H. I. M.—To be a Wall Street magnate.

Helena Catherine Norton
Newport

"Her voice was ever soft, gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman."
H. I. M.—To speak and forever after hold her peace.
Ruth Dickinson Norton, AX
Vergennes

"I am a mess—I am a mess—
I am a messenger of Love!"

H. I. M.—To star in Shakespeare's latest tragedy, "Bobby, the Bowery Bum."

Grace Elizabeth Peaslee
Contoocook, N. H.

Oh where and oh where has my High(land) Ladd(ie) gone?"

H. I. M.—Never to study, only to pretend.

Elizabeth Joy Rose
Cornwall

"What would the rose with all her pride be worth,
Were there no one to call her brightness forth?"

H. I. M.—To become better acquainted with the Bigelow Papers.

Adelaide Ross, ΣK
West Rutland

"I am in earnest—I will not equivocate—I will not excuse—I will not retreat a single inch and I will be heard!"

H. I. M.—To ride a donkey in a show
And tell the Freshmen where to go.
Harriet Emily Smith

"A blush is no language; only a dubious flag-signal which may mean either of two contradictions."

H. I. M.—To perfect herself in the Potter’s art.

Britomarte Somers, XK

Wellesley had a maiden fair
Who thought she’d like to be more
Than just a spinster dwelling there.
So came where she could Sey-more.

H. I. M.—To eat, drink and be merry.

Mary Alice Stone, AX

Another late arrival—not worthy of her name—in size merely a pebble but as good as could be expected from Vergennes.

H. I. M.—To keep people moving without moving herself.

Marion Sarah Thomas, AX

"Oh blessed with temper whose unclouded ray
Can make to-morrow cheerful as to-day."

H. I. M.—To lengthen the day without shortening the evening.
Mabel Kathryn Tooley
Stratford, Conn.

"The love of books is a love which requires neither justification, apology, nor defense."

H. I. M.—To be a settlement worker. Where? In New York of course.

Josephine Tracy
Lee, Mass.

"Her stature tall—I hate a dumpy woman."

H. I. M.—To lend a helping hand.

Laura Eliza Walbridge, IIIPhi
Brattleboro

"I even think that, sentimentally, I am disposed to harmony. But organically I am incapable of a tune."

H. I. M.—To faint at the most opportune moment.

Marjory Alexander Wright, AX
Middlebury

Greetings!
Oh sure girls, I got two mid-semester notices—flunked that stiff course of Cady's—but I don't give a hurrah. What's the use of worrying anyway!

H. I. M.—To get to chapel at the eleventh hour.

Ours To Do

Are we good? Is water wet? There is as much sense to one of these questions as the other. If all the virtues of the class of 1916 were to be enumerated here there would be room for nothing else in this book. By the Freshmen we are considered a class of Napoleons, by the upper classes a class of Solomons, and by the faculty a miracle. Modesty and the lack of space forbid our saying anything more except; watch us and see the world progress.

The Freshman
HOY Mates! First came in this fall on the 1917 unlimited. Aye, Aye, Sir! We met the enemy (the Sophs) and when the smoke of battle cleared away we had five hands on board. True; we lost to the enemy in that rough game called football but we didn’t give up the ship and so far our team has remained ON THE FLOOR throughout every basketball game.

Though we are the first class (and we hope the last) under the new SEMINARY HAZ-ING RULES, we are doing our best for the good of the college and though treated as children, we hope to become real grown-ups some day.

Spirit(s)! Why in that line we are rivaled only by Cesar’s ghost and the town of Shore-ham. “Nuff Sed.”

This is only a small glimpse but, Billy Farell and the rest of the faculty permitting we intend that you shall see and hear more of us ere the unlimited pulls out again.

Warning

You can't sue us as a board, for we as a board will not be in existence after this book comes out, inasmuch as the 1916 board is already elected. You can't take us as individuals, for very obvious reasons. If you see a member of the one time existent board, and say, "Did you write that scandalous thing about me?" he will say, "I did not do it, I had nothing to do with that part of the book." We can trust every member. YOU WILL NEVER KNOW who said that mean sarcastic thing about you, and WE WON'T EITHER, after the book goes to press.

Sentiments of the Calculus Class

"Oh Cresse is a noble man
He knows a lot of math,
And we do all aspire
To follow in his path."

The Daily Appeal
VI No. 1.

DO NOT READ THIS IF YOU ARE NOT A JUNIOR.

The members of the Class of 1915 are requested,—or rather, warned,—to give their individual photographs to the KALEIDOSCOPE BOARD as soon as possible. January 1 should be considered a very late date.

People who fail to hand in their pictures within a reasonable period will have the pleasure of seeing pen and ink sketches of themselves, done by one of the board artists,—in the place where their photographs should be. As the particular artist who does these pictures has strong cubist tendencies,—owing to the fact that he never was able to draw anything that looked like the thing it was supposed to represent,—it would be advisable for people who "want to look like somebody," to give their photographs to the Board at their earliest convenience.

Leave photographs at 32 South Starr Hall,—the place where the Board representative hangs out.

T. KENNETH PENNIMAN.
Cady, on top of the bleachers, watching a baseball game.—“Well boys, I’m awfully sorry but we have to have a class in English today.”

(Overheard—Same day and place.)

Prof. Cady (looking down from the bleachers and seeing Bartow directly below him)—“I wonder what would happen if I fell?”

Tute Wetherell—“A hollow sound.”

Day of Norwich Game. Cold day. (Extract from Editor’s notes).

Tute standing over towards chapel watching the game. Foul fly, a hot one. Takes his hand out of his pocket and catches it as tho it was a bean bag and returns it to the pitcher before anyone realizes just what happened.

Cresse—trying to impress his point upon analyt class—“You hold this point here and let the other one go down that line to —— Halifax.” Dawn.

Freshman—“What is that spot on Cresse’s head?”

“Why that! That’s the flies’ Robinson Crusoe Island.
Love's Labors Done

The Argument

And papa said, "Willie this will hurt me more than it will you. I hate to do it but it must be done."

Dramatis Personae

A Freshman
A Sophomore

Chorus of Sophomores

Prologos

Freshman: You told me, sir, to see you at this hour.
Sophomore: I did.
Freshman: What do you want, if I may ask?
     I know quite well you have me in your power,
     I pray you, give me not too long a task,
     For, sir, my lessons are not yet half done.
Sophomore: Well, you need exercise, get at that bed
     And make it well,—else you will furnish fun
     For every fellow in Starr Hall to-night.
Freshman: But, sir, I cannot let my lessons slide.
Sophomore: Well, hurry up then, so you can get back
     And study,—grandma's precious pet and pride!
Freshman: Alas! I never did such menial tasks
     In all my life before; when I but think
     Of those old days in Ripton, at high school.
     Where I beat all the others slingling ink
     And doing problems in geometry—
Sophomore: Come, get a move on! Start and make that bed!
Freshman: But sir, I don't know how. I'm quite amazed
     That you should ask me.
Sophomore: Come, dig out the lead.
     And hustle, lest you too should feel the stroke
     Of the stout paddle of nail-studded oak.
Freshman: What is that dreadful sound that strikes my ear?
Sophomore: It is the sound of singing sophomores.
Freshman: Alas! my heart is struck with deadly fear!
     Where can I hide? Their tramping shakes the floors.
     Well, I must face them; they are at the doors.
Parodas

Chorus of No onion juice is stronger than the love we bear for you;
Sophomores: It is for this very reason that we bear the paddle too,
For we know you need it badly to correct your erring ways.
You have strutted round the campus like a silly popinjay,
You have never once saluted, and you laughed with scorn to-day
On your way across the campus, as you said "They no more haze
At this little country college." Yes, you thought you were all right,
As you studied all the day-time, and far into the night,—
But we've come to gently show you the error of your ways.

Episode 1

Freshman: What have I done, that you should treat me so?
Sophomore: It's what you haven't done that brings them here.
Freshman: Why I am sure I've studied very hard
And got my lessons well; I've always done
My studies well,—and even Cresse said
"A very pretty proof," more times than one.
Semichorus: He says that Cresse praised him. Much I fear
Some supernatural agency works here;
For never once in all my life in college
Has any man possessed such wondrous knowledge
As to be praised by Cresse more than once,
Or called by any other name than dunce.
Sophomore: But see how thin and pale he looks
From constant poring over books;
No doubt he'll win his P. B. K.
Chorus: And in a coffin ride away
From our beloved college.
Sophomore: His face is very thin and pale,
His legs are weak, his body frail,
He'll never live to graduate.
Chorus: Unless some kindly watchful fate
Shall change his wrong ideas of knowledge.
Sophomore: Now tell us what you're worth, my lad,
We really think you're not half bad,
Considering the chance you've had.
Chorus: No, we are really very glad
That you have come to college.
Freshman: I gave the valedictory,
Won prizes in geometry—
Sophomore: And never did a thing but study!
Chorus: Small wonder that your skin is muddy
Although your head is jammed with knowledge.

Sophomore: Which the poor wretch can never use.

Chorus: I'm sorry for the poor recluse
That crams his head with such refuse
And makes himself a dictionary.
It seems to us that by his looks
He should be placed with other books
Upon the shelves in the library.

Sophomore: Can you row, swim, or kick a ball?

Freshman: I never did such things at all.
My papa never let me play
With rough boys who would act that way.

Chorus: When you were stuffed with information,
What did you do for recreation?

Freshman: Some problems in geometry.

Chorus: Oh! pity him! What misery!

Sophomore: Bring forth the oaken paddle stout,
And lay it on, and lay him out.

Chorus: Have pity, he is very frail,
He's scarcely thicker than a nail.
I fear the shock will break his bones.

Sophomore: I cannot hear his dying groans.

Chorus: Well, wait till he grows stronger, then
If need be, tackle him again.

Sophomore: Now, promise, freshman, what we ask,
Swear to perform each day the task
That we shall set for you.
Promise to do it thoroughly.
As you do your geometry.
This is the task that you must do.
Freshman: Be not too hard, kind sirs, I pray.

Chorus: We only do it for your good, And your best health from day to day.

Sophomore: Know then, and understand, poor trembling wretch, That a strong body holds a stronger mind Than such a body as your own can hold. And that we sophomores are more than kind In ordering you to take such exercise As will make you a man in every way. We order first then, that you early rise, Take a cold shower, and follow with a walk—

Chorus: Words of wisdom dost thou speak: If this boy, so thin and weak Does the thing he ought to do,— He will work two hours a day At the work we know as play Till the blood runs swiftly through His pale cheeks and makes them glow With the hue of health and though He will miss some studying, It will be a right good thing.

Sophomore: All these things then, you must do. Intrait Tommy-rot and Wisdom

Tommy-rot: But he won't win P. B. K.

Wisdom: Or in a coffin ride away

Chorus: From our beloved college.

Tommy-rot: If he has to spend his time In this silly way, All his class-room work will fail. From this evil day.

Wisdom: He can learn in half-an-hour More than once he learned in two, If he'll only heed our words And these things with patience do.

Exodus.

Chorus: I am sure that you know surely all the things whereof you speak, And that this poor lad who stands here, with a face so pale and weak, May be yet a mighty athlete, and may yet win P. B. K., If he heeds well all the maxims we have given him today.

(Exeunt omnes.)
Look the luscious Co-ed enters
Tripping down the sounding aisle.
Beat it, Venus, go in hiding,
Take a back seat for a while.
What is, to us, an armless woman?
All her beauty, all her charms
Are like soda minus whiskey
Take the Co-ed and her arms.

(Found in a hymn book in the Congo Church. Author unknown.)

Cole, '15, was nominated as chairman of the Social Service Committee and declined with much embarrassment, "I have more than I can carry now."
Vail—"If that's the true state of affairs, we'll have to pass it to somebody else."
Cole—"Hic—c. Yesh. It doesh sheem sho."

Billy Burrage had a lot of Greek words on the board. Nobody seemed to be able to tell him the meaning of one of them.
Billy—"Why, it's just what you're doing now."
Pit Ormsbee thot he knew, and shouted, "Bluffing."

A Toast to "The Co-ed"

"A creature fond and changing, fair and vain
The creature woman, rises now to reign."

In fact it might be said that,
"Whoe'er she be,
That not impossible she
Shall command my heart and me."

And now that I have confessed you will understand me better in what I have to say about the Co-ed, for she is the one thing finished in this hasty world and to love her is a liberal education.

"She is pretty to walk with,
And witty to talk with,
And pleasant too, to think on."

I have reason to believe that these "halls of a marble college" would be stripped of all their beauty should we try to even imagine ourselves in them and at the same time "far from the mad-dening girls." Close one eye and imagine yourselves looking out on the campus on a nice spring day. Is the picture complete without her presence? Then, too, in our class rooms, who is it that spurs us to noble recitations and sometimes even to our destruction? Again, you may go into the library. There you will find the quiet of study. There, also, you will find the means to lighten your study, for she is ever present, ever ready to let you feast your eyes upon her. Ages prove what I say, for this has been handed down to me from the prophets of old. The Co-ed, I say, has grown to be a vital part of the education which we are here for, "and from her eyes this doctrine I derive.

They are the books, the arts, the academes,
That show, contain, and nourish all the world."
Miss Chalmers (coming to her table after the girls have sung the evening chant and seated themselves)—"Please excuse me for being late—. Yes, Anne, it was just right for you to begin to serve before I arrived. You see I have been down town and I simply couldn't come to supper in my street clothes."

The door opens and Miss Throop enters the dining room, late as usual; the girls rise and conversation ceases while she glides to her table and Miss Buck draws out her chair and helps her to be seated.

Carrie Dunton (daring to break the silence)—"I am trying to figure out how many square miles there are in the Pacific Ocean." Miss Chalmers (absent-mindedly): "Isn't that perfectly splendid? So interesting. Gladys' new dress certainly is a dream. It was dear of you to tell me, I know Bobbie will be so interested. (She looks around the table and notices an empty plate): "Oh, may I not serve you. Yes, do; it's all right, I took a second helping myself."

Miss Feeney—"Girls, I heard the most terrible thing today." Chorus, "Do tell, pray do." Miss F.—"I know I ought not to mention it but do you know one of our girls has been guilty of using a very vulgar expression. Chorus—"Who was it, pray tell and what could she have said?" Miss F.—"Well, it's reported that one of the Freshmen called somebody a poor ham." (Everybody sighs.)

Miss Marsh—"Oh, don't wait for me to finish my hot dogs. Go on and eat your dessert." Chorus—"Oh, no; we have absolutely nothing else to do, take all the time you want."

While they wait Helen Simms expresses her deep humiliation at not having noticed that some of the glasses were over half empty.

Miss Chalmers—"We had such a treat in class this morning. Professor Royce played grand opera to us. Chorus—"How wonderful."

Ruth Norton nervously looks at her watch and Miss Marsh states that she is ready for her dessert.

Each girl breaks a crumb from her piece of cake and takes a polite nibble or two. All sit back and politely wait till Miss Chalmers, head of the table, lays hers beside her plate before doing likewise, they then rise, the Freshmen and Sophomores standing aside till the upper-classmen have passed out.

As It Is

Say, Len, you're late. Why don't you stay to supper?

Aw! Shut up and give me what's left after you get through, Hutch.

Hawkes jabs Fergus in the ribs with his fork to attract attention and gasps, "Chase the cow down this way, Cutie," while Ferg proceeds to feel his gizzard over. Vail takes this opportunity to get away with his neighbor's bread.

Larry, slide the butter down this way and try to keep the dish under it if you can.

Hutch grasps this opportunity to pass Triggs a slice of well-buttered bread, butter first. Triggs gets a little peaved and says something, whereupon he is promptly told to charge. Hutch dodges and peace is established.

Each and every person at the table passes his glass to Triggs to be refilled. Here, somebody asks for something, dodges and reaches up to pull it off the wall.

Eddie crabs a little, and is told to crawl under the table.

Fergus then proceeds to give us an imitation of a ballyhoo. "Ladies and gentlemen, let me sing you that painful little ditty entitled, 'Sing Me To Sleep.' You will get the air as you go out."

Jack says, "Taisez-vous." The fellows think that he has sprung a joke and laugh, etc., etc., etc.

Somebody is called on the telephone and those that are not wanted give a little friendly advice as to what should be said, and they do it loud enough to be heard, easily, on the other end.

And yet they like it.
If Joy Rose would Sophia know Howe.
If Julia Wood could Mary Buck?
If Clo Hayes will Carroll Dodge?
If Miss Throop liked Seniors would Vera Suter?
If Anne went for Fish with a Schilling could she get her Phil?
If Ruth Keet went to the Waubanakee dance did she need a Vail?
If Prof Skillings grew old would Burr-age?
If Day were bright could E. C. Cole?
If Prof. Sanford were in trouble could Laura Wallbridge the gap?
If the Freshman president is Hard will Katherine Ball?
If the Faculty had a Paine would Phelps Nash Swett?
If Mary Bowles over will Arthur Wheeler?
If Helen Linell skipped a class would Bishop?
If the skating were good, could Floyd Seymour winters or Britomarte Somers?
If the English Department had a difference of opinion would Charles B. Wright?
If the Pedagogical Ship of State sank would Raymond McFarland?
If our Registrar were Suffragist Candidate for President would Perley Voter?
If Marjorie Bates Phelps will Carlton Warner?
THE CEREMONIES
Seen on the Bulletin Board

Wanted—A young man to look after a garden and a horse who will care for his own room and eat at the family table.

Miss Wells: "Goodness gracious, how long did you boil those eggs?"
Co-ed: "Just as long as you told me, Miss Wells."
Miss Wells: "Why, how could that be? They're hard as bricks."
Co-ed: "But I boiled them just fifteen minutes."
Miss Wells: "Fifteen minutes! Why, I told you never to boil them more than three minutes."
Co-ed (in a gently reproving tone): "But, Miss Wells, I boiled five of them."

Student (to Janitor): "Say, have you ever been taken for a minister?"
Janitor: "No, but I've been treated like one."
Student: "What do you mean?"
Janitor: "I've been kept waiting for my wages for three months now."

Where was Whitney Going

As R. T. Whitney, one of our prominent Juniors, was leaving Painter Hall one Sunday evening, he met one of the ministers of the town.

"Good-evening, my friend," said the minister, "do you ever attend a place of worship?"
"Yes, oh, yes, sir," said Whitney eagerly, "nearly every night. I'm just going to see her now."

Mr. Rich (to a student who desires to work): "And if you think you can do it, I'll be glad to hire you, and pay you what you're worth."
Student (hastily): "Well-er, Mr. Rich, you see I need the money, and I don't believe I can afford to work for that."

RAISING THE FLAG POLE

Presented to the College by the Classes of 1914 and 1915
A Clear Road Between

Ormsbee (semper taurum jacens): "Well, professor, to tell you the truth, I wasn't paying much attention at that time, and what you said didn't make much impression on me. As you might say, it went in one ear and out the other."

Professor: "Well, Ormsbee, I don't see what there was to prevent its doing so."

Bishop: "Yes, I told her I was going to kiss her once for every step she took between Battell Cottage and the Congo church.

A student: "Was she mad?"

Bishop: "Well, I should say she was! But I noticed she wore her hobble skirt."

Whitney: "Say, fellers, these tan shoes are just swell. I like 'em better'n any other kind. If I had my way, I'd never wear anything else."

C. B. W.: "Ormsbee, what is Winchester's prediction for the future of epic poetry?

Ormsbee (after long and deep thought): "He believes that the great epic poem of the future is yet to be written."

A certain man in town lost a donkey, and posted a notice on the bulletin board of the post-office, offering a small reward for the return of the animal. A little later, Johnny Kenworthy returned the animal.

"Well, John," said the farmer, "where did you find the beast?"

"Waal," said John, "I thought to myself whar I'd go if I was a jack-ass; an' I went there, an' he had."

Dr. Burrage (meeting Prof. Cady wheeling his baby about the campus): "Good morning, Mr. Cady. Taking your son out for an airing, eh?"

Prof. Cady: "No, I'm taking my heir out for a sunning."

for the best three solutions of the following puzzles. Six excuses will be given for the best set of four answers; four for the second best; and two for the third best. Each of the four word-pictures which follow represent a man well known in the college. See how many you can guess.

Only undergraduates may compete. No contributions from the faculty will be considered.

\[\text{I}
With manner lack-a-daisical,
And gentle smile so whimsical,
He teaches all his classes.
He begs their pardon when he asks
A question, or sets any task,—
Yet makes them feel like asses
Unless they know the lesson,—then
He’s sweeter than molasses.

\[\text{II}
He’d nod and smile as we recite
As though the things we said were right.
Then, just as we’d begin to say
“I threw the bull that time for ‘A’—”
He’d ask,—with gentlemanly tact,—
Some other man to give the fact!

\[\text{III}
With angry voice he hollers, “What?
I’m quite surprised! Certainly not!”
And as he rages round the room,
Each student’s heart is filled with gloom;

He knows not who may next be caught
By teacher’s ever watchful eye,
And made to suffer misery
That in the class book counts for naught.
For the poor boys are quite confused,
Although they know his heart is kind
When once they get beneath the rind.

\[\text{IV}
Although his jokes are antiquated
And from before the flood are dated,—
Yet to each Freshman class they’re new
And as new jokes they tell them too.
But we have heard them oft related.
And when, in some far distant year
We shall come back again and hear
These same old jokes by freshmen stated,—
We shall be very happy then
To hear the dear old jokes again,—
The only things not renovated.
Voter—"How would you know C'H'OH was an alcohol?"
Chem II Student—"I should think you could tell by the smell."
Voter—"Well, some would only smell of it but others would want to taste of it to be sure."

A Weybridge friend to Ross—"How do you know when you are in love?"
Ross—"Oh, you'll know when you get there."

Francis to a freshman, seeking to explain kinetic energy—"Now suppose that you should jump off a two story building, you would experience a stinging sensation on your feet. What would this be due to?"
Freshman—"Friction, sir."

Prof. Abbott explains a situation and then puts the question—"Mr. Jones, if you were a lawyer and a client came to you with a case like that what would you do?"
Casey—"Well, I'd tell him to hunt up another lawyer."

Prof. Cresse to a friend at the athletic games in Berlin. Both were perplexed at the constant appearance of the letters "erg" on the big board at the end of the field and were unable to gain any information from their neighbors.—"Well, I take it that it means the same as our English word and that it takes all the athletes here all day to do one erg of work."

In History 2.—If King Charles hadn't lost his head he wouldn't have been beheaded.

Miss Smith, '15, in History 4.—"Munroe doctrine was necessary to keep the people from the other world from interfering with the American nations."

Miss M. Thomas (in Christian Endeavor)—"Delegates without furnaces will not be accepted by people for entertainment."

Cady—"Most nuts come from Brazil. That's why they—'re not all there."

Question in English, 10 minute quiz.—"Tell all you know about 'Paine's Common Sense.' No reference to the faculty."
MacGilton.—"If you should put HCl with any other metallic salt solution other than lead, mercury, and silver. Presto! Nothing doing."

From the Life and Letters of G. C. Dade, N. B.
Vol. CIX, Chapter XIC.

"To the young man who earnestly desires success,—I can recommend nothing better or more worthy than that he exercises himself diligently in the study of my character and personality. By so doing he can hardly fail to reach the heights of success to which I, thru my unaided ability, have already attained."

Freshman Girl—"I thot it was a man behind me but when I turned it was only Dodge."

Librarian approaching Hutch and co-ed who were talking in the library—"Mr. Hutchins, although this corner is devoted to law, I will have you understand that it's no court room!"

Miss Wells—"Miss Kendall, when are eggs a cheap food?"
Miss Kendall—"At fifteen cents a dozen. If they cost more, it takes too many to equal a pound of beef steak."

Talking about Adolescence of Boys in Mac's class—"Miss Peaslie, what about Adolescence?"
"Why, I don't know. You see I never have anything to do with the boys."

Med. History—in giving a description of the Huns—They are very deformed. Ride horse-back and all that.
Abbott—"Give the physical characteristics of the Huns, Miss Nelson."
No answer.
Abbott—"Well take any man, let him ride all the time and how does he get?"
Miss Nelson—"Why crooked-limbed."
Abbott—"What you mean is bow-legged."
Blushes.
"A College Girl's Garden of Verses."

Little Freshmen, green as grass—
Pretty Sophomore—hazing lass—
Jolly Junior—glad and free—
Don't you wish that you were me?

It is very nice to know
That father has a lot of "dough"
And always thru my college years
He will supply my sad arrears.

IN WINTER.

In summer, I arise at ten,
Play tennis, swim and flirt with men.
In winter quite the other way
I tumble out at break of day.

I have to rise and study Trig,
Into the Ancients delve and dig
And hear the early morning sounds
"Clyde Hurlburt" on his daily rounds.

And does it not seem hard to think
When all the sky is black as ink
That I must rise and plug some more
When I would much prefer to snore?"

*Apologies to whomever they are due. The Editor doesn't know.

To R. E. B., '14.

We shall meet but we shall miss him
There will be one vacant chair.
We'll oft think of our prize bluffer
Who most monstrous bluffs did dare.

When each year in class we saw him,
Joy was in his twinkling eye,
But he's going soon to leave us,
And our hopes all shattered lie.

We shall meet but we shall miss him.
When in agony we groan,
How we'll long for his conjectures
That e'er brought him safely home!

When in coming years we gather
We'll miss the courage he inspired;
For his long circumlocutions
Always brought the end desired.

THE WEARERS OF THE GREEN

The greenest thing imaginable is a freshman who doesn't know what a co-ed is.
Freshman hands committee in Prexie's office his calling card when asked for his card. He was there for advice in choice of subjects.

SENTIMENTS OF ATHLETES

Lamere (baseball trip).—"There's the 8.30 train probably we'll take that."
Another player.—"No, that's the accommodation train and we won't take that."
Lamere—"I know. We wouldn't take that part anyway."

(Overheard) Freshman—"What are those things called co-eds, anyway?"

Fresh—"Does P'a White teach all the Latin Classes?"
Soph—"No, Betty teaches all except the Freshmen.
Fresh—Isn't it funny they let a girl do that?"
Abbott, explaining the purpose of the Business Law Course.—"The law is full of loop-holes in regard to business dealings and they're what I'm here to show you."

Abbott to Cass.—"Supposing your children willfully smash windows. Are you responsible?"
Cass—"I don't know, I never had any such experience."

Youngs and Miss Musgrove both give contradictory answers to the same question and it is obvious that Mr. Youngs is right.
Abbott—"Mr. Chapman, who is right?"
Chap. thought (deep)—"Miss Musgrove."
Abbott—"Well, ladies and gentlemen, I see that the days of chivalry are not over yet."

Cunny—Speaking to Logic class. Definitions.
"Inattention is that characteristic which you always have."
"Materialism, science off its beat; physics gone crazy."

Cunny: "If science can't explain the world, how can we do it?"
Hendry: "Have you looked in Morris' Cyclopedia of Facts?"

The Daily Appeal

If your legs are weak, and you find it hard to bring your photograph up three flights of stairs, hand it to me on the street. I am willing to do almost anything to get it.

These photographs really must be given me before January 6.

Eight men have so far given me their pictures. I grieve when I think of a year book full of my own pen drawings. Don't you?

Comment, He's out again.

It will not be my funeral. It will be yours. The beginning of the end has come. Many of your handsomest men have waited until the eleventh hour. When it strikes noon, January 10, where will they be? Remember the five foolish virgins at the wedding feast, and don't blame me. Your photographs will not appear in the year-book, unless I have them by January 10, Saturday. The last sentence sums up the whole situation.

T. Kenneth Penniman,

Look for "The Reason Why" to-morrow. 32 South Starr.

The Daily Appeal, January 10

Matthew, Chapter 25, vv. 1-12.

Take down your Bibles, Juniors, and dust them off carefully. Read as much as you like,—it will interest you and do you good. But before noon today, read verses 1-12 (incl.), Matthew, Chapter 25, and before reflecting on it, ACT ON IT.

Unless you are bone-heads, this notice will be sufficient.

There is a hole in your pocket, and you as a class are losing money every hour for every man who keeps us waiting after 5 o'clock tonight. Don't let three men hold up the class.

As for the men who are still delinquent at 5 o'clock, I can do no more than to compare them with a certain bird mentioned in Job, * 39-17.

The Oracle has spoken.

A professor of Mathematics in Middlebury College could not do better than I have done.

I have been cruelly hard on you, and,—as is the case with students in the Mathematics department,—you are probably glad I was hard, and that I was sometimes sarcastic. As in the case with the esteemed gentlemen in the above mentioned department, I have achieved big results.

Your loyal support, Junior men, and professors, has been much appreciated. Without it, I could have done nothing. I thank you, from my heart. Probably you have already guessed that this boiled down means, THE PICTURES ARE ALL IN.

Charlie Baker—"There is something which makes my blood run faster and my body feel younger."
Cresse—"Yes, I was that way once myself."

Prof. Harrington in class trying to show detrimental effect of too much clothing. —"Why even pressing your finger lightly on the back of the hand you get a white spot resulting."
Mr. Grant (Soph.), trying it.—"Why, professor, I don’t see any."

Government—Tute—"When does a king begin to reign?"
Ormsbee—"The minute his successor dies."
Sentiments of one student. No fool is a perfect fool until he has taken four years of Latin.

Penniman asks Damon (his room-mate to take a book up on the hill from the Hash-house. Damon—"Going up on the hill Slade?" Slade—"Yes."
Damon—"Take this book up will you?" and hands it to him. Waits a little while and Damon says "Wait a minute Slade and I'll go up with you."

Wanted—A Freshman girl, preferably one having light hair and blue eyes. Promise to love and cherish her forever.

Signed, "Mamma's Angel Child."

Gus Newman—(Mis)understood.
Vera Suter in special French course.—"Mr. Newman, I would like to have you pay attention to me."
Gus—blushes—real red ones—"I will."
Vera also blushes.
FRESHMAN PARADE

HAT SCRAP
Pliny. Betty talking about diminutives.—“Now when you say ‘brooklet’ you mean little brook, riverlet, a little river, etc.”

McIntire (interrupting)—“Does Hamlet mean a little ham?”

Betty in Latin 15.—“What kind of columns are those at Pearson’s?”

Miss Kendall—“Engaged columns.”

Miss Magoon—(in loud whisper)—“Who did Ruth say was engaged?”

Hard Lines. January 14. Wilcox and Newman go over to the Science Hall and call for Mott. When he comes out of the lecture room, they ask him for a cigarette.

MacFarland said—“What we want is a new flag pole instead of a stick of molasses candy.”

Dade talking to some people and quite forgetting himself says—“This morning I went down to breakfast with just a Jersey on.”

A young lady who lived on the hill
From hunger was getting quite ill.
She went down the street
To get something to eat
Gave up a “shilling” and got her “fill.”

HISTORICAL FACTS.

Whitney forgot to call at a certain place this Sunday evening.

Ratti changed his necktie to-day. Got a new one for Christmas.

Bundy answered a question by saying "Yes" once today.

Hutchins didn't butt in on Prof. Abbott with a fool question.

Cleopatra appeared at the moving picture show. Hill deserted. Wonder why?

Wilcox, Newman, and Goodell all appeared in French today. But Tick hearing Robbie was going to teach climbed out just on time to spoil the record.

Hendry got a lot of stand-up collars at a sale. That's why he's wearing them so promiscuously and often.

Wright (C. H.) got into the M. P. show for 5 cents.

Vail beat Hutchins to breakfast. Slept in the dining room to do it though.

Marlin
Repeating Shotgun

Made famous by its dependability. The solid top and side ejection keep gases and powder away from your eyes; help quick, effective repeat shots. Rain, sleet, snow and foreign matter can't get into the action. The mechanism is strong, simple, wear-resisting. The double extractors pull any shell instantly; two special safety devices prevent accidental discharge while action is unlocked, and an automatic recoil block makes hangfires harmless. All Marlins are strongly made, finely balanced, accurate, hard hitting guns, and are the quickest and easiest to take down and clean. 12-ga. hammer and hammerless, 16-ga. light-weight repeaters; regular, trap and field models; $19.50 up.

Send three stamps postage today for our 122-page catalog, describing the full Marlin line.

REV. JOHN M. THOMAS, D.D.,
Middlebury, Vermont.

My dear Doctor Thomas:

On three occasions recently, either myself or one of my deputies has come upon a recent graduate of Middlebury College teaching in one of our high schools, and teaching distinctly better than the average young college graduate does, and with an obviously better understanding of the educative process. It has been so conspicuous that it has led us to mention the fact to one another in comparing notes at our weekly conferences. I find upon inquiry that each of these young people has had the benefit of the courses in Education offered at Middlebury.

I am sure that you will be glad to know of this, and will permit me to say that I think that Middlebury in this respect is in the way of doing a very real service to Northern New England, a service which, so far as I know, is not being carried out on a similar plane elsewhere.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) H. C. MORRISON.
